Susan Mangels has been the President of Lexington College since 1997. She serves on the American Council on Education's Commission of Women in Higher Education and is on the Board of Directors of the Women's Foodservice Forum. She also serves as a trustee of Morgan Park Academy in Chicago and is a past Board chair of the Chicago Culinary Guild.

Her Ph.D. in Education Policy from the University of Illinois centers on leadership, female executives, and career theory. President Mangels holds a B.A. from Furman University and an Ed.M. from Harvard University. She does research and speaks frequently on the topics of women in the professions, work life balance issues, feminist theory, and wine.
